Conſtantinople, May 12. The Latin Biſhop and ſix Monks are brought hither from Scio, to anſwer for the Diſorder which happened in that Iſland on Account of their building of Churches. They are not only put in Chains among the common Slaves, but alſo ordered out with them (the Biſhop as well as the reſt) to work every Day at the Walls of Conſtantinople, which the Grand Signior is now repairing. The Biſhop has been told, that if he and his Monks will have their Liberty they muſt pay ſixty Purſes for it, 50 to the Grand Vizier, and 10 to the Captain Paſha, each Purſe valued at 100 l. Sterling. To this the Biſhop anſwered, that he and his Monks had no Money, nor Power to raiſe any; but that, if the Grand Signior would have ſuch a Sum, it could be levied only by his Authority, by taxing each Latin or Roman Catholick of the Iſland according to his Ability, and forcing them to the Payment. It is ſaid the Port has agreed to this Expedient, and the Buſineſs is adjuſted upon that Foot. We have had no News of the Turkiſh Fleet ſince the ten Men of War ſailed from hence; nor do we hear that Janom Choggia who is to command it, is yet arrived at Scio: However, People continue to be of Opinion, that the Deſign is upon the Iſland of Gozo.
